

Our work in the creative industries

The power of our creativity

We want to enrich the lives of individuals and communities through culture and creative work

Providing creative leadership

Creative innovation from our academics shows best practice for the sector and informs how students learn

They write books, produce award winning film and TV and make hit songs

They are leaders at the RSA, Creative England and the London Academy of Music and Dramatic Art

Future-proofing creative industries

We've lead the development of guidelines for students and staff working on film, TV and visual media courses during COVID-19

This collaboration brings together universities, colleges, screen industry skills body ScreenSkills plus lawyers and scientists.

Supporting creative livelihoods

We've shown musicians how to generate income from their live streamed performances

Our research has produced an Open Access toolkit for musicians with best practice

It's invaluable for their careers during the global pandemic

Making incredible creative work

Our students' creative work enriches the lives of individuals and communities

In lockdown we developed an online platform to showcase their work

Engaging with creative professionals

Our students learn and network with professionals and industry leaders

Then they go on to lead the way themselves with top jobs in industry
